

Seriously "Sensitive" to Pollution

Environmental Health: Living in a Polluted World

---

Endangered Human in Jasper

Posted on February 22, 2020 | 3 Comments

If you are in or near Jasper, Alberta anytime between February 29 and March 7, please check out Marie LeBlanc's Endangered Human presentation at Jasper Community Habitat for the Arts. I have seen some of it, and it's very powerful.

Jasper exhibit raises awareness for rare disease

<https://www.fitzhugh.ca/jasper-exhibit-raises-awareness-for-rare-disease/>

∞

Marie LeBlanc's website: <https://www.marieleblanc.net/>

Endangered Human

- PJ Days 2020

WHO says we need fresh air?!

February 29, 2020
2pm to 5pm (Opening)
- February 29 to March 7-

Jasper Community Habitat for the Arts
500 Robson Street,
Jasper, Alberta T0E 1E0
Canada

<https://facebook.com/events/s/endangered-human-pj-day-2020/1036184096757254/?ti=as>

<https://www.marieleblanc.net>

Marie lives with multiple chemical sensitivities (MCS) that isolate her, like many others with autoimmune related diseases, on the edges of society.

Marie's images and WHO says we need fresh air?! message will open on Feb 29 at 2pm to 5pm.

Refreshments will be served on Saturday, Feb 29 at 2pm

Alternate viewing times:
March 1 to March 2 (2 to 5pm)
March 3 to March 7 (12noon to 5pm)

WHO says we need fresh air?! is a series of insights and comments sharing the struggles of those around the world living with an environmental illness.

Their story is Marie's story.

This event works well with Jasper's annual PJDay...so feel free to wear your PJ's to the opening. Find out more about auto-immune disease and Jasper PJDay at findthecommonthread dot com

"March 1st also happens to be the first day of Autoimmune Disease Awareness Month, so for the diehards, you've got all kinds of other events to carry you on. March 1st is also one day after Rare Disease Day, a category many autoimmune diseases fall into when looked at singularly."

Marie's art presentation will help you and others understand the needs and struggles of those living with these conditions. The life of the people living with an environmental illness is unimaginable and unbelievable until you see WHO says we need fresh air?!

Marie LeBlanc's art show will be on display at Habitat for the Arts from February 19 to March 7 daily from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Please go if you can.

Also, if you are able, please support her efforts to have this presentation shown elsewhere, to as many people as possible.

Keep this in mind too please:

From the Canadian Human Rights Commission's new "Environmental sensitivity and scent-free policies"

"People who have allergies or sensitivity to certain products may have a bad reaction to a much lower level of chemicals, perfumes or environmental triggers than the average person.

Their reaction is a medical condition. It is a recognized disability. People with allergies or environmental sensitivity are entitled to protection from its cause."

...

This entry was posted in Accessibility, Disability, Environmental Health, Environmental Sensitivities, Housing, Multiple Chemical Sensitivities and tagged accessibility barriers, art, chemical sensitivity, EHS, environment, environmental illness, IAQ, invisible disabilities, MCS. Bookmark the permalink.

3 RESPONSES TO "ENDANGERED HUMAN IN JASPER"

linda @ Seriously "Sensitive" to Pollution | April 20, 2020 at 11:26 pm | Reply

Air on the Side of Caution

Hosted by Arts AccessAbility Network Manitoba and Marie LeBlanc Artist/Advocate

AANM is proud to present our first Online Exhibition!

"Air on the Side of Caution" is an exhibition by Marie LeBlanc artist and advocate.

LeBlanc states, "Air on the Side of Caution" examines both my experiences with Multiple Chemical Sensitivities (MCS) and air pollution. As a person with MCS I experience a life of fight or flight in a world of chemicals and pollution. Cautiously choosing a safe environment I often find it is hard to find a place that is free from toxins. I am living with an inconvenient disability in a modern world".

On May 1st, 2020 Marie LeBlanc's Exhibition, Air on the Side of Caution will be available to view in full on AANM's website (aanm.ca) and we will be posting one image from the show everyday on this event page

<https://www.facebook.com/events/3013817588681079/>

linda @ Seriously "Sensitive" to Pollution | April 20, 2020 at 11:28 pm | Reply

Arts AccessAbility Network Manitoba about 3 years ago

Air on the Side of Caution

A PHOTO EXHIBITION
by Marie LeBlanc
Opening Online on MAY 1, 2020

Visit aanm.ca after May 1st,
2020 for more information.

8 2 Share

Pingback: Van Living with MCS/ES | Seriously "Sensitive" to Pollution

This site uses Akismet to reduce spam. Learn how your comment data is processed.

---

Blog at WordPress.com.